CHAMPS/RMPHTC 2023 Chronic Disease Management: Health Center Best & Promising Practices Series

Sessions Held on the Third Wednesday
March, April & May 2023
12-1PM MT | 1-2PM CT

March 15: RiverStone Health (MT): Live Well Center

RiverStone Health's Live Well Center provides an interdisciplinary approach to weight loss, diabetes, and nutrition education. The program uses integrated care to manage weight, labs, exercise routines, and more. This presentation will discuss the unique aspects of the services provided by the Live Well Center and its approach to chronic disease management.

April 19: Coal Country Community Health Center (ND): Remote Patient Monitoring for Chronic Disease Management

Coal Country CHC will highlight how alternative strategies impact patient engagement in managing chronic disease. They will feature virtual visits, remote patient monitoring, and the future of continuous glucose monitoring using remote patient monitoring.

May 17: Denver Health (CO): Integrating Diabetes Tech for Better Health Outcomes

In the age of acceleration, diabetes technologies are advancing the tools and platforms available for diabetes self-management as well as clinical management for patients with diabetes. Denver Health will discuss the basics of starting to leverage diabetes technology within a primary care setting.
